

Delivery Assurance

Delivery Assurance ensures that your deployment follows the same Workday method that has worked for all our customers. We have made it mandatory because we've seen the problems that come from inconsistent implementation. One reason our customer satisfaction rates are high is because Delivery Assurance is there at critical checkpoints to make the deployment successful.

How It Works

Four Reasons We Require Delivery Assurance

- An objective and consistent viewpoint
- Collective expertise
- Project checkpoints at critical stages of deployment
- A single point of contact throughout the process

Customers Satisfaction

"Workday offers insights that we haven't had before. We are able to slice and dice information in just about any way we want to."

- Senior VP, Administration, District Board of Trustees of Broward College, Florida

"The biggest advantage is one system, which is huge for our global managers. We have the same processes, the same look and feel. For example, if we want to increase salaries, it's the same process in China as it is in Sweden. With executive support, HR, IT, and finance have agreed that Workday should be our single source of truth."

- Global HR Business Application Manager, Elekta AB

"We were able to accomplish the 'big bang' without any productivity gap, in half time than we imagined. Most companies take months beyond what we experienced, and our Workday partners were right there with us to make that happen."

- Vice President, Human Resources, Enterprise Business, HP Inc.
